JANUARY 2013

ISSUE SEVENTEEN

A 501(c)(3) Nonprofit Organization

It goes without saying that the past year was an eventful one for Tailor's Wildlife Rescue Group. It is with the highest regard that we want to thank all those who played a part in the successful rehabilitation process of over 300 animals.

Starting with the fact that Tailor's Wildlife Rescue Group (TWRG) is a nonprofit Organization that is solely volunteer based. People tend to forget that those of us who do wildlife rehabilitation are volunteers and this is not a paid position. Which makes all those who give of their time and energy dedicated to the well being of our native wildlife, even more priceless. Thank you for your help, your time and devotion to the seemingly endless stream of orphaned, injured and compromised wildlife that comes through our door.

The amazing people who volunteer to help us repair, paint and upkeep our animal facility such as the group from Morgan Stanley last year who worked so hard to create a new and pleasing look to our care center. To the volunteers who help us feed, clean and care for all those who come in to us. And to those who apply to volunteer with our group expressing the desire to be part of this process, thank you all.

Our Veterinarians who so graciously open their doors and services to help us mend broken wings and limbs and with cases we can't provide a humane ending to. We are truly grateful for all your help.

A special thank you to all those who donate items which are much needed from seasonal foods, bedding, toys and monetary gifts. Without you and your kindness and support, it would be harder for us to provide the comforts so many of our intakes need.

To you, the public who bring us the orphaned, injured and compromised wildlife. Thank you! It is you who provide them with a second chance at life. We are honored that you think highly enough of us to search us out and entrust us with their care. We strive to make a difference and pledge our devotion and professionalism to you and to our wildlife community.

Last but not least, thank you to our families and friends whose needs often take a back seat during our wildlife season. Understanding the long and sleepless nights when we don't make it to bed or our distraction of an injured animal who needs our love and attention. For understanding the tears that often come with those we've lost who have touched our hearts and the frustration of losing a battle we tend to believe we can always win. For sharing in the rescues and standing along side us for all the joyous occasions when everything goes as planned. Without you and your support, our mission would be more difficult and our dedication and love for what we do would become a personal struggle. Thank you for opening your hearts and welcoming us back when we are tired at a seasons end ..... only to watch us rest and prepare to face it all again.

THE "AMAZING" LYRE BIRD!

David Attenborough is a British broadcaster and naturalist who has presented numerous series of "Life on the Planet Earth". His writings on the natural history genre are highly regarded and he has the distinction of discovering many new species of wildlife.

We wanted to share one of his findings with you - the Lyre Bird (pronounced "Liar" Bird). As amazing as this Australian bird is with its abilities to mimic a multitude of other bird calls and sounds, it is also profoundly sad as it has chosen to mimic sounds which it uses to attract a mate that represent the destruction of its environment and the encroachment and effects of mankind.

Please Fill Those Bird Feeders!

With the temperatures dropping on the entire east coast, we ask that you please keep your bird feeders full. We have had our first case of the season which was a bird (titmouse) that needed to be brought in and warmed up. This type of weather causes great distress on our feathered friends as their natural resources are slim to none at this time of year and they tend to depend more on getting food to fuel their bodies from bird feeders. Even your local neighborhood squirrels would appreciate a handout of nuts and or corn.
